

Ain't It The Truth?

You don't hire a hall when you want to tell your sweetheart All About It:

You don't advertise the fact that the poorest player in the bunch trimmed you at Kelly pool:

But you do throw out your chest and boost your favorite cigarettes:

You for MECCA!

Ain't It The Truth?

No picked - green, artificially ripened tobacco is used in MECCA. Every leaf is ripened by Nature on the stalk - which explains the wonderful sweetness and mellowness of America's favorite brand of cigarettes.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Brazil and Our Colleges.

An opportunity to advertise American colleges and universities is presented by the offer of Mr. Gustavo van Quackebek, editor of Vida Escolar, a Rio de Janeiro newspaper devoted entirely to educational and student affairs, to accept photographs of school interiors, buildings and campus, and other views relative to college life in the United States, for publication in his newspaper. It has a large circulation among students. Photographs may be sent direct to the local address of Mr. Quackebek, Rua do Alameda, No. 78, Rio de Janeiro, or to this consulate generate to be turned over to him. He is particularly interested in obtaining pictures from the professional and post-graduate schools of the larger universities. This matter is recommended as forming part of a press campaign in favor of sending young Latin Americans to the United States to study. —Conserv. Reports.

The team defeated the Killingly team in the championship. The Killingly team was above the average of teams that have represented the school on the diamond and the record it has made is encouraging.

GUEST FROM WASHINGTON.

To Tell How Equal Franchise Has Worked Out in That State.

The members of the Civic Federation, their husbands and men friends have been invited to be present this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Danielson to meet Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Goodrich, of Washington state. The invitation is extended by the members of the Equal Franchise League. Mrs. Goodrich is to speak of the working of equal suffrage in the civil affairs of Washington and of the good work accomplished by women as members of school boards in western states. Mrs. Goodrich, formerly a resident here, will be greeted by many friends of other years.

Safety Zones Needed.

A suggestion has been made that a space a certain distance each side of where trolley cars stop at Danielson Center be marked off so as to keep automobiles out of that particular zone as a stopping place. With an electric car stopped, some of them remain five minutes and automobiles lined up on each side of the street, the thoroughfare is completely blocked for the passage of other vehicles, which are forced to wait or make a detour by the post office. With an increased number of machines in use here this year, the proposal is to make cars park elsewhere than about the center stop is being received with much favor.

Town Hall Not Leased.

The selectmen have not yet leased the town hall to the new organization recently by Edward S. Carpenter, held the lease for many years, but the town officials have different offers for the lease of the property and it is expected some deal for the place will be closed within a short time. The hall is always leased under certain restrictions as to its use for town and borough meetings, caucuses, elections and the like.

Sight-Seeing For Committee.

It is probable that the members of the Eastern Connecticut Development committee will be taken on an auto-

CATTLE JUDGING CONTEST.

Planned By County Agent For Young Men Under 19.

County Agent W. C. Kennedy announces a plan for having youths under 19 in Windham engage in a fair in a cattle judging contest. The young men who enter will have an opportunity of looking over the cattle and judging them. The contest will be held at Woodstock fair and of passing upon them for points as is done by the really, truly judges.

A preparatory for this they will hear five lectures to be delivered by Carl T. Muser of the Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs. When the fair comes the boys will be through to cattle sections, inspect the animals and judge them. They are to judge classes, four cows and a bull. Those who come the nearest to the awards made by the regular judges in the cattle department will receive rewards, now expected to be $5, $3, and $2 at each fair. For reason 40 points are to be allowed, 30 points for perfect placing.

It is expected that the winners will be given an opportunity to attend the National Dairy show at Springfield, on October 13, when youths will have the same opportunity of judging cattle as is to be given at the county fairs.

The judging contest is somewhat new in this section and it is expected to prove a lot of interest to young men, who are at all interested in cattle.

of horses over slippery pavements and muddy roads and the drivers suffered by small accidents by them. John Meech was one of the company's first drivers and remained the service until his old man, Tom Barber was another, who gave faithful service as a conductor. He is still living and resides on his farm in Canterbury, and George Edmond, now an inspector in the Shore Line company's service, for many years was a driver of one of these cars. Mr. Edmond has changed but little in the years that have passed since this period and looks as hale and hearty as ever, he having been promoted some time since from motorman to his present position.

Norwich has now become one of the leading trolley centers of the state and owes much of its prosperity to its facilities for easy intercommunication with adjoining cities and towns.

River Traffic Changed.

The installation and extension of the trolley system brought about a marked change in our river traffic, and especially so in the excursion season. Older residents of Norwich will recall that the little steamer "Fanny," the Massachusetts ran to various river points and beyond, commanded by Captain Avery C. Smith, did quite a business in the excursion traffic. Back of them all there was W. W. Colt and the Escorte owned by Captain W. W. Colt, who at the time, lived in the house back of Church street, and commanding a beautiful view of the Thames, now owned and occupied by John H. Thayer. The steamers were afterward sold to the government for transports.

Captain Colt was in his time, one of the prominent citizens of Norwich and died at a ripe old age.

John Breed.

One of the quaint characters of Norwich, as he would now seem, was John Breed, some time mayor, and the head of the hardware business above mentioned. He built Breed Hall, giving it his name, which was one of the "show" buildings of Norwich, in which the residence of Mr. Breed was located. The enlargement of the square, was at least half way across it, measuring from
